DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the semaphore being incorporated into a garment or ornament must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 22-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pasfield (5,026,084).

Pasfield discloses a color-coded identification system comprising first and second semaphore sets having semaphores (1', 2', 3' – plurality of flags) for use by first and second individuals, the semaphore providing information to first and second individuals, means (1, 2, 3 - bands) to display the first and second semaphore sets; whereby both individuals can signal care alerts to each other via the semaphores and, then, quickly interpret the semaphores to understand the alerts.

Art Unit: 3722

Regarding the semaphore indicating a social interest, personality characteristic, or social trait of the first individual or a particular social interest, personality characteristic, or social trait that the first individual desires in a second individual, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). In this case, Pasfield is capable of performing the intended use as the parameters for the colors (red, green, orange, etc.) are established by an individual to be universally recognized (see col. 2, lines 52-58).

Regarding claims 25 and 29, the examiner considers the indicia to be the color used as the semaphore which would indicate that the band upon which it is placed is used as a semaphore.

Regarding claims 26 and 30, Pasfield disclosing using pre-selected colors as semaphores (see col. 2, lines 30-32 and 49-51).

Regarding claims 27 and 28, Pasfield discloses the flags being placed at any desired location (see col. 2, lines 33-35 – inherently, this includes a garment or ornament).

Regarding claim 31, see the above rejections to claims 26 and 30. Pasfield discloses the claimed invention except for the claimed indications for each color (yellow, red, green, blue, purple, pale blue, gray, white, orange and black). A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). In this case, Pasfield is capable of performing the intended use since the individual would determine the parameters for each color (as seen in figure 3).

Regarding claims 32-41, the method of using the semaphores for communicating information is, inherently, set forth in the above rejections.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 22-41 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

Art Unit: 3722
